A soulful and expressive poem showing the benefits of a caring heart

Roxana Popescu's delicately illustrated poem refers to people who have no superpowers — at least at first glance. Most of us are not leading scientists, peacemakers, or glamorous stars on stage, but with our heart and soul, with our empathic capacities, we can console and delight the people in our surroundings and even ourselves.

In short: We can make the world brighter.

A beautiful book that can change your perspective, cheer you up, and makes the poetry and beauty of life visible.
